Task Force 1:

Good Healthy Schools Initiative (GHSI)

Connecting experts, sharing insights, shaping the future of education

jennings@leuphana-gmbh.de

04 June 2024

Photo credit: https://unsplash.com/de/fotos/person-holding-light-bulb-flq0tET6llw

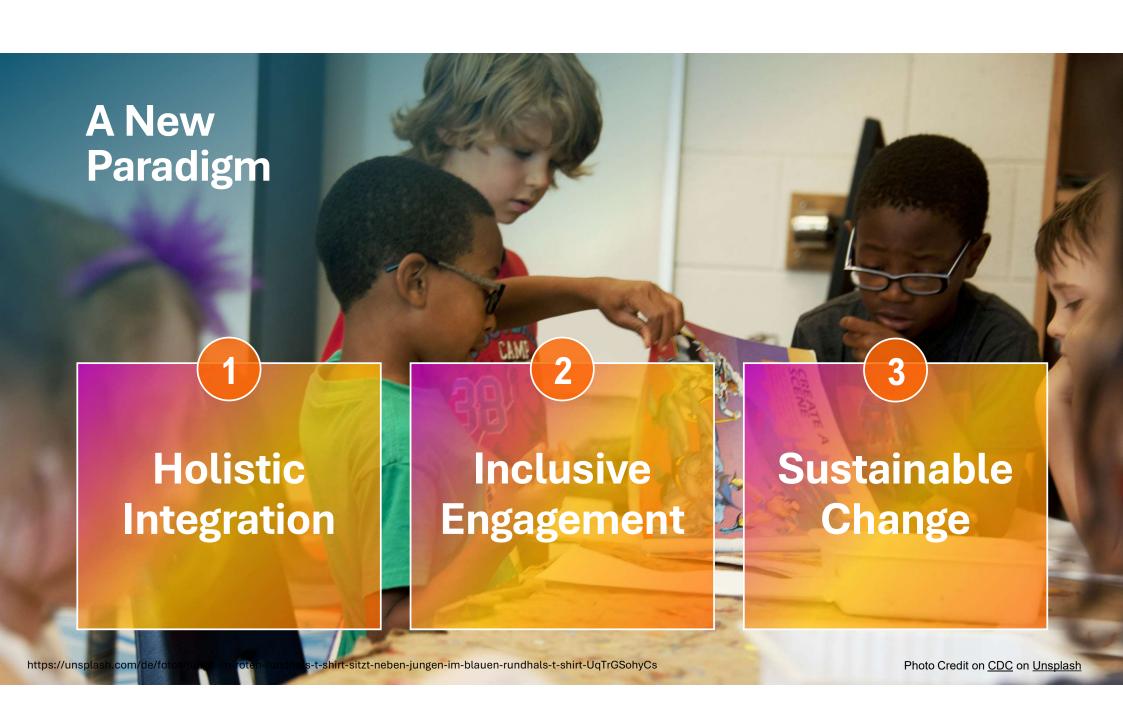

A Tale of Transformation

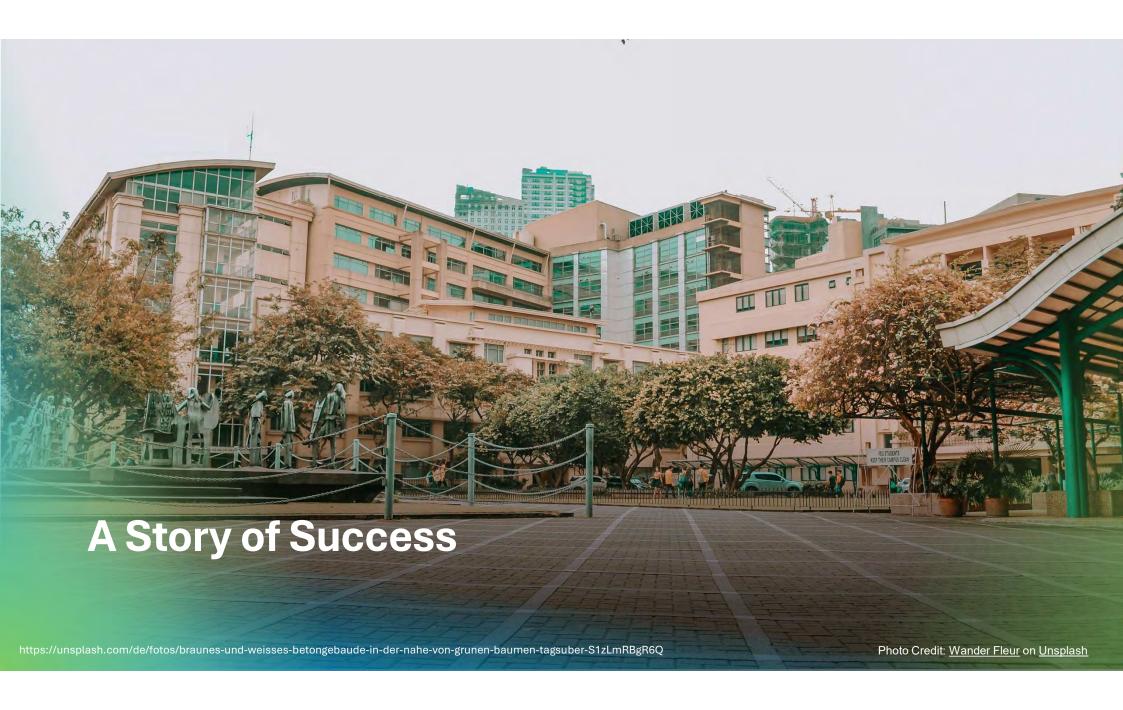

https://unsplash.com/de/fotos/graustufenfoto-von-menschen-die-auf-einem-stuhl-sitzen-n1LlveUPls4

Comparison of Various Strategies to Promote Health in Schools

	Behavioural Approach	Health-Promoting School	Good Healthy School
Starting Point	Health issue	Health issue	School pedagogical issue
Target Group	Specific groups of individuals (e.g., students)	All school groups	All school groups
View of School	School as a place where the target group can be reached	School as a setting that can be health-promoting	School as an educational institution
Concept	Health promotion in the school	Health promotion through the school	Educational promotion of the school through health
Motto	Making health a topic for specific target groups	Making health a topic for the school	Developing a good school through health
Strategy	Changing personal determinants of health	Changing structural- systemic and personal determinants of health	Changing structural- systemic and personal determinants of education through health interventions
Outcomes	Health-related knowledge, attitudes, behaviour of the target group(s) Health-related lifestyles Health-related life skills	Health-promoting school conditions, processes, and structures Health-competent school	Educationally favourable school conditions, processes, and structures

Table: School health promotion from Ottawa to today: opportunities and challenges, Bundesgesundheitsblatt - Gesundheitsforschung - Gesundheitsschutz 7–8 · 2022, Peter Paulus, Juni 2022

Project Details

Legal stewardship: Leuphana GmbH, Dept of Education & Health

Three-year international project: Feb '23 - Mar '26

Project owner: Prof. Peter Paulus, Centre for Applied Health

Sciences at Leuphana University Lüneburg

Project Manager: Maren Jennings

Patron: German Social Accident Insurance

In partnership with ENETOSH

- Peter Paulus peter.paulus@leuphana.de
- Maren Jennings jennings@leuphana-gmbh.de

